

PART 6

Should Global Harwell be our ultimate educational goal worldwide?

Given all the deliberations above,

Global Harwell is what the majority of people aspire to throughout their lives and captures, across different cultures, the core values of humanity.

Global Harwell

perhaps can serve as our global educational goal!

Ultimate Educational Goal Worldwide?

- If Global Harwell is our global educational goal, and if there are no better alternatives, then it may also become our Ultimate Educational Goal Worldwide
- Note that, being an 'ultimate goal,' it may take more than a CENTUARY to 'attain' the goal to a considerable degree because improvements never end
- But there is a pressing need for taking immediate action as the world is truly at stake
- Furthermore, education cannot wait as our next generations are growing everyday

Final remarks!

- As Mandela once stated:

"Education is the most powerful weapon you can use to change the world."

- The only way truly changing the world is education, probably Global Harwell Education!
- If we succeed to a substantial degree, we and our next generation perhaps can enjoy a Harwell World, peaceful and flourishing

Call for more funds for supporting research on positive and negative use of technology

- We researchers intend to build a healthy and supportive future learning environment.
- However, the potential negative impact of technology on learning is inevitable. If these adverse effects accumulate, they could affect our entire next generation.
- Before it is too late, funding agencies that support technology-enhanced learning research should allocate at least 10% of their funds to studying the Positive and Negative Use of Technology (PNUT) in Learning, and they should communicate their findings to policymakers and society.

I hope our endeavor can stimulate thinking about

- What is education?
- What is educational goal?
- What is global educational goal?
- Would ultimate educational goal worldwide exist?
- How can such a goal be attained, if it exists?
- Could education and technology help attain an ideal future world or make our world much better in the long run?

What's next?

- Online forums: We plan to host a series of online forums at a website globalharwellgoal.org for collecting opinions and ideas from researchers around the world
- Invitation: We cordially invite you to join us in this fruitful dialogue by participating an online forum to discuss your perspectives of this subject
- Three topics: After reaching a certain satisfactory consensus, we co-author three official papers and submit them for publication in RPTEL with the following topics:
 1. Global 'Harwell': Should it be our ultimate educational goal worldwide?
 2. Learning in the Seamless AI World
 3. Seamless Interest-Driven Co-Creator Theory
- 100 authors: The first paper on Global Harwell may list more than 100 authors in alphabetical order.

Advertisement!

A conference series to describe
Education in the Seamless AI World called APSCE MetaACES

globalharwellgoal.org

Global Harwell

— Should it be our Ultimate Educational Goal Worldwide?

Introduction

PANEL 1 (5th Dec 2023, pre-conference workshop W13)

Fusing ideas for engaging learning: from Interest-Driven Creator Theory to Seamless Interest-Driven Co-Creator Theory for learning design

PANEL 2 (5th Dec 2023, pre-conference workshop W13)

Global 'Harwell' Goal as the global ultimate educational goal: how may it be achieved through Seamless Interest-Driven Co-Creator Theory' research and practice?

KEYNOTE (6th Dec 2023, main conference)

Global Harwell

— Should it be our Global Educational Goal?

PANEL 3 (6th Dec 2023, main conference)

Towards a collaborative vision for redesigning education for harmonious and thriving educational futures in Asia and beyond: will Seamless IDC Theory lead us there?

